Pay-for-Performance and Access to Care In this section, we look at what pay-for-performance and access to care means for individual patients. We also consider different strategies aimed at improving access to care for those who are most vulnerable. We look at what being in the top 5 per cent in A&E could mean for your hospital and how it can affect patient care. Then, we look at what it means to give all services, treatments and drugs the same price in the NHS. Finally, we look at the dangers of creating a two-tiered healthcare system. Standard wound dressings are often inadequate for the treatment of ulcers due to their detrimental effects on wound healing. A study was designed to investigate the use of a vacuum-assisted sponge dressing (VASD) to overcome the problems of crusting and pressure-induced congestion associated with the application of dry dressings to venous leg ulcers. The study comprised a series of randomised, split-dressing, prospective trials and a follow-up study. The study results show that the VASD produced
