the current driver for this sound card has been tested on microsoft windows 7 operating systems. the latest windows 7 drivers are installed by default, but if you want to upgrade the driver version or select a different driver to install, you need to uninstall the current driver first by using the add/remove programs. once the installation is finished, you can have the latest driver version and performance improvements. did you know that when your audio device is not detected by windows, it sounds like static? this is due to the fact that the drivers are not installed or outdated. this is just for the extra info, not that the drivers will work on anything but the specific computer being sold.. but, it might give you an idea of the sort of sound card a computer should be able to do (or at least should be able to do). there is no time since i took the sound card and tested all the functions. i started to check out in the irc channel of unreal and found it out there. so, i am just writing this short notice with the link you can get the real audio for your pc. the author is giving this real audio free of cost for any of you who needs it. so, that's what i did and it worked. i hope you all get it working on your systems. i have a problem with the windows 7 x64 installation, i downloaded the installation file and when i tried to install it, it told me that the files were corrupted and that i had to repair it. i tried to repair it using various options that it gave me, but nothing worked. i tried to repair it through windows update and many other things, but nothing worked. is there any way to fix it?

hope so that all of you are fine. i have a query regarding sound driver. i have sony dav dz 650 5.1 channel sound syetem. in previous windows 10 version working so perfect. after installing update version of windows 10 my sound ruined. no charm. bass is very disturb. sound clarity is zero. i installed 2.82 real audio driver but no good quality sound. kindly help me im having a hard time with my hp envy curved all-in-one 34-b1xx. i want to add another realtek driver to the sound so i can record what i hear from my computer. i was able to do this before with my hp pavilion (now dead). in the hp envy im stuck with a speaker/microphone and everything i try to record with my daw is nothing but white noise. its a all-in-one so do i need to have an external card like i do with my laptop or, is theres such a thing as another driver that can be installed (dll) and get it accomplished. i really would appreciate high tech help on this. yeah, dont download this piece of crap. go to the website of the company that made your computer (toshiba, hp, dell{ugh! they stink}, whoever) theyll have the correct driver for your computer, not this one-size fits all driver. read the other comments, people have lots of problems with this driver package. oh, and dont go to softronic. they dont have realtek 64-bit drivers, theyll tell you they do and then (if you can find the real link) youll sloooooooowly download a huge installer program of 32-bit drivers that doesnt have the what you need. for those who want to keep their old version of realtek drivers on their windows 10.. for windows 10, the driver currently in system settings is realtek high definition audio sistem drive 6.0.8924 of abril2020. i want to keep my last version of my drivers, so i go to media sound settings and i can't access the stereo mix option, because it show marked in settings record sound devices disconnected or desabled but nothing about stereo mix open. i need to open this option to make my computer sound system as it was. 5ec8ef588b
