Now, several years later, a new case has been reopened and Detective Inspector Holly Bywater is ready to crack the crime once again. Is this the same killer, or has a new suspect been set free? Prime Suspect is a game that takes place in London and includes all the locations that were in the original show. It is a game of murder where you have to solve a series of puzzles to figure out who the killer is and where to find them. You will be solving puzzles at the locations that were on the show: The Royal College of General Practitioners, MI5, the new Met Police HQ and many others. You will be facing a lot of puzzles including visual puzzles, in the end you will need to be smart to crack the clues. Once you have solved the puzzles, you are presented with a suspect, which you have to research and find clues for. If you go to the railway station while the game is open you will find a series of clues that will help you in the game. All the game mechanics were made to make you feel like you are in the show: the game is a set of stories, you can call for help from friends and other players online to help you solve the case. Online play is more cooperative, in other words you will
