How can i change it? A: You can set the `tintColor` property of the `UIScrollView` `backgroundColor` of the `UIScrollView`, however the font will not change as this just affects the text inside the scroll view and does not change the font of text that is actually displayed on the screen. You can use the attributes inspector to change the colours. Q: JS "first" is not a function? I've got this JS line `javascript:$("#a").first().attr("href")` that gives me the following `ReferenceError: first is not defined` But when I use `$("#a").first().attr("href")` It works fine. I wonder how I can get the attribute value of the first anchor. A: Your code is generating a javascript: in the href attribute. Per the W3 page on href: The href attribute represents the URL of a link in an HTML document, identified by its scheme, host, and path. Therefore, all of the following are valid: Link Link
